

INFORMATION BOOKLET

ISSUED IN CONNECTION WITH THE

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION

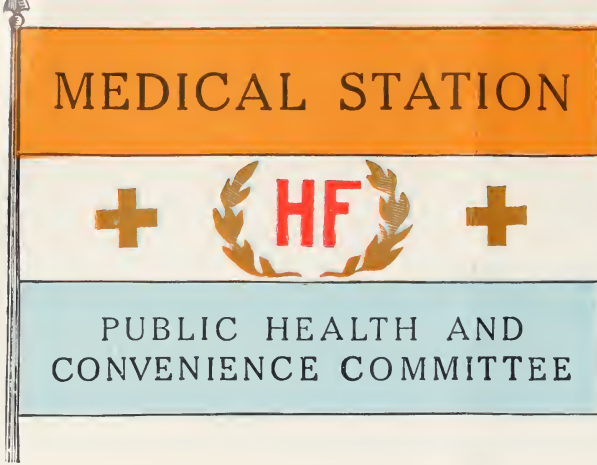

NEW YORK CITY

SEPTEMBER 25 TO OCTOBER 2

BY THE

PUBLIC HEALTH AND CONVENIENCE COMMITTEE OF THE

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION COMMISSION

This flag marks the Medical Emergency Stations operated during the Celebration to augment the regular City hospital service. These stations are of two kinds—Field Hospitals open day and night and First Aid Stations located along the route of the land parades and along the Hudson River front during the hours of the land and naval parades respectively. A special ambulance service is operated in connection with both. All of the Medical Emergency Stations are in charge of competent Doctors and manned by Trained Nurses. The service they render is absolutely free of charge and the public is expected to take full advantage of the same.

This flag marks the Information Bureaus operated at the leading railroad and steamship terminals, convenient for incoming passengers. The attendants are prepared to furnish information regarding hotels, boarding houses, cab rates, etc., and to give explicit directions for reaching any part of the City. There is absolutely no charge to the public for this service.

Why This Booklet Is Issued

THIS INFORMATION BOOKLET is issued for the convenience of the hundreds of thousands of people who visit New York City during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

¶ Its purpose is threefold.

¶ First—To enable every one of them to secure satisfactory accommodations despite the fact that the capacity of the big hotels is taxed to the utmost.

¶ Second—To provide information valuable to those unacquainted with the city about transportation lines, cab rates, the parade routes, the buildings where special exhibitions or exercises are held and how to reach them, and other useful information.

¶ Third—To bring to the attention of visitors the various stations operated by the Public Health and Convenience Committee—Medical, Information, Rest and Comfort--and to explain the service they are prepared to render and the facilities they offer entirely free of charge.

Information Bureau Service

(Telephone: 923 Bryant)

At its Headquarters, 1531 Broadway, Room 400, the Public Health and Convenience Committee operates a Central Bureau of Information, with branches in the waiting-rooms at the terminals of the principal railroad and steamboat lines, during the Celebration. At these bureaus competent attendants are stationed to give information, directions, and the names and rates of hotels and boarding houses to incoming visitors. Those desiring may register at these Bureaus and have mail or telegrams forwarded. All services rendered by the Information Bureaus and their attendants are entirely free of charge.

Printed in this Booklet, for the benefit of visitors who might otherwise be unable to arrange for suitable accommodations, are the names of a large number of Hotels and Boarding Houses. The Public Health and Convenience Committee has secured these names from reliable sources, but cannot assume any responsibility in regard to them.

The rates charged by the Boarding Houses listed herein, vary from one to three dollars a day for one person without board and from two to five dollars with board. Those desiring to secure accommodations at Boarding Houses are advised to write* in advance and make definite arrangements.

Medical Emergency Service

The Medical Emergency Stations operated during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration under the direction of the Committee on Public Health and Convenience are divided into two classes: Field Hospitals, open day and night, of which there are twenty-three, and First Aid Stations located every few blocks along the route of the land parade and along the Manhattan Shore of the Hudson River. These Field Hospitals and First Aid Stations are furnished, equipped and provided with doctors and nurses by the New York County Branch of the Red Cross Society and by the National Volunteer Emergency Service.

To supplement the regular city ambulance service a number of extra ambulances have been secured and these are utilized to transfer serious cases to the City Hospitals. Fast Ambulance Launches patrol the Hudson River in the vicinity of the warship anchorage and accompany the naval parade. Ambulance stations are located at several piers to facilitate the transfer of patients from the launches to the hospitals. The hospitals of the city have made preparations to increase their normal capacity to a considerable extent during the celebration.

Ample provision has therefore been made not only to attend promptly and efficiently to the minor cases of injury and illness, which are certain to occur, but also to meet any and every possible emergency. The services rendered at any of the Public Health and Convenience Committee's stations are entirely free of charge to the public.

This flag marks the permanent Comfort Stations of the City and those temporarily constructed by the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission for the week of the Celebration. This flag also flies in front of a large number of buildings of a public or semi-public character which have placed their toilet facilities at the service of the public during the Celebration.

This flag marks the Churches which are open day and evening during the Celebration to all who may care to enter for rest or to escape inclement weather. Attendants are on hand to administer to the wants of those in need.
